SECTION 5. MULTIYEAR COLLECTIVE COMMITMENTS

The following templates are to be completed to provide information on commitments made by Leaders and/or Labour and Employment Ministers on:

- Female participation, quality of employment and gender equity
- Youth employment
- Safer and healthier workplaces

Collective commitment to increase female labour force participation and quality of jobs

1. Monitoring progress: tracking policy developments

Using the template below, please report on the key policy measures that have been or will be put in place by your country to promote greater gender equality in the labour market and achieve the collective target of reducing the gender gap in labour force participation in 2012 by 25% by 2025. The policy measures (up to four measures in each case) should be grouped under the four broad policy areas that cover the 11 policy principles set out by G20 Ministers of Labour and Employment in their Melbourne Declaration:

- A. Address unequal treatment of men and women in the labour market (Declaration priorities 5, 6).
- B. Promote an enabling environment for gender equality in the labour market (Declaration priorities 1, 2, 4, 10, 11).
- C. Make work pay, improve job quality and reduce informality (Declaration priorities 7, 8, 9).
- D. Promote entrepreneurship (Declaration policy priorities 3).

2. Key indicators of gender gaps in the labour market

These tables will be completed every two years by the ILO, OECD and World Bank, to the extent possible, to ensure comparability of the indicators. Countries are requested to fill in where possible any missing observations. The data for these indicators have been derived from databases maintained by the ILO, OECD and the World Bank and are generally based on internationally agreed definitions.

a) Proportion of employed persons who work part-time, based on a 30-usual-hour cut-off in the main job. For Saudi Arabia the data refer to actual hours worked based on a 35-hour cut-off.

b) Proportion of employees working informally in 2010 in China, the Russian Federation, South Africa and, in 2009, Argentina, Brazil, India, Indonesia, Mexico and Turkey.

c) Proportion of employees working in temporary jobs.

d) The gender wage gap is defined as male minus female median wages as a proportion of male median wages. The data refers to mean wages for China (Hong Kong) and Indonesia.

e) This indicator considers differences in treatment by law of men and women and provides an aggregate count across 21 areas for married and unmarried women and for 5 areas that only apply to married women (the maximum score would thus be 47), including: application for a passport; travel outside the country; signing a contract; being head of household or family; having ownership rights over property; working the same night hours; having the same statutory retirement age; and, absence of gender or sex discrimination in the constitution.

f) The data are derived from time-use surveys.

h) Tertiary education refers to all type-A and type-B programmes.

Commitment to promote better employment outcomes for youth 1. Monitoring progress: tracking policy developments

Using the template below, please report on the key policy measures that have been, or are planned to be, put in place by your country to promote better employment outcomes for youth. Information is requested on up to four key policy measures under each of three broad policy areas:

A. Strengthen the education system and prepare all young people for the world of work.

Including: improving basic skills; second-chance programmes; strengthening vocational education and training; expanding opportunities for workplace learning, including apprenticeships and traineeships; and improving career guidance.

B. Provide effective support to unemployed young people to find work. Including: providing adequate income support to unemployed youth; and improving the provision of effective active labour market programmes, including entrepreneurship programmes.

C. Improve job opportunities.

Including: addressing constraints on demand for labour, including for youth (macroeconomic policy settings, credit availability, public employment programmes); and enhancing job quality (ensuring fair wages are paid, improving working conditions and tackling informality).

2. Key indicators of youth employment outcomes

This table will be completed every two years by the ILO and OECD to the extent possible to ensure the comparability of indicators. Countries are requested to fill in where possible any missing indicators. The data for these indicators have been derived from databases maintained by the ILO and OECD.

Commitment to promote safer and healthier workplaces (OSH)

1. Monitoring progress: tracking policy developments

Prepare a brief (2-3 pages) report on 2-3 key occupational safety and health policy commitments selected by each country. In line with the G20 Statement on Safer and Healthier Workplaces: Measures for Progress Review, (Annex C, G20 Labour and Employment Ministerial Declaration, Melbourne, 10-11 September 2014), the information on policies to address occupational safety and health could cover measures in the following four broad policy priority areas:

A. National action that strengthens national policies, systems, programmes and strategies to improve occupational safety and health. (Commitments 1, 2, 3)

B. National action that supports international collaboration and development, sharing and application of knowledge on OSH. (Commitments 6, 7, 8)

C. National action that targets measures to improve OSH conditions for priority safety and health hazards, high risk sectors, SMEs, supply chains and vulnerable workers. (Commitments 4, 5, 10)

D. National action that fosters a culture of consultation, collaboration and collective action with social partners to improve occupational safety and health. (Commitment 9)

2. Key indicators of OSH outcomes

Countries are requested to fill in this table every two years. The ILO will assist in completing the table to the extent the information required has been shared with the ILO.
